

Senator Lieberman's proposal will mandate 10 million barrels in oil-savings in 20 years and will also mandate the mass-production of cars that can burn any combination of gasoline and alternative fuels.

In addition, the bill will include

- An aggressive strategy for pushing the development and mass marketing of hybrid technologies, including hybrids that give drivers the option to plug them in at night
- A program to ensure an adequate number of alternative fuel retail outlets
- For the first time, fuel-efficiency standards for trucks
- Standards to ensure fuel efficient replacement tires are offered for cars and trucks
- Financial support for retooling manufacturing facilities for advanced technology and alternative fuel cars and trucks
